

Diane Oakes

Nurse

Diane Oakes qualified as a registered nurse at Stobhill Hospital Glasgow in the 1980's, and later obtained a Graduate Diploma in Health Sciences (Midwifery) from the University of Sydney.

She has enjoyed working in many areas of nursing, with experience in theatres, midwifery, community nursing and general practice.

Diane has a keen interest in women's health and health promotion, which led her to join the team at Sydney Breast Clinic in 2014.

She is committed to providing care and support to women throughout their visit to the clinic.
